MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 5.

"Mother Eve."

Woman's first appearance has been a fruit ful subject for the legend-mongers of all ages and places. According to S. Earing Gould there was an extraordinary mystic named Antoinette Bourignon, who held that Adam's stomach contained a clear fluid, like water in a crystal bowl, in which tiny eggs developed themselves like bubbles in wine, and when he strongly desired companions he deposited some of these eggs which hatched out Eve. The Phœnician myth of creation is found in the story of Pygmalion and Galatea. There the first woman was carved by the first man out of ivory, and then endowed with life by Aphrodite. The Greek theory of the creation of woman, according to Hesiod, was that Zeno, as a cruel jest, ordered Vulcan to make woman out of clay, and then induced the various gods and goddesses to invest the clay doll with all their worst qualities, the result being a lovely thing, with a witchery of mien, refined craft, eager passion, love of dress, treacherous manners, and shameless mind. The old Scandinavians, on the other hand, made their common mother out of nobler stock than man. Their mythology says that as Odin, Vili, and Ve, the three sons of Bor, were walking along the sea-beach they found two sticks of wood, one of ash and one of elm. Sitting down, the gods shaped man and woman out of these sticks, whittling the woman out of the elm and calling her Emla. Closely allied to this is the Ionian myth, which makes the first pair, and Meschia and Meschiane, out of the beidas tree. One of the strangest stories touching the origin of woman is that told by the Madagascarenes. In so far as the creation of man goes the legend is not unlike that related by Moes, only that fall came before Eve arrived. After the man had eaten of the forbidden fruit he became affected with boils on the leg, out of which, when it burst, came a beautiful girl. The man's first thought was to throw her to the pigs, but he was commanded by a messenger from heaven to let her play among the diggings until she was of marriageable age; then to make her his wife. He did so, called her Bahoura, and she became the mother of all races of men. The American Indians' myths, relative to Adam and Eve are numerous and entertaining. Some traditions trace back our first parents to white and red Maos; another is that man, searching for a wife, was given the daughter of the King of the Muskats, who, on being dipped into a neighboring lake, became a woman. Poor first mother! For untold centuries she has been twitted for her primal share in the world's cares and punishments. No matter whether a painted Kickapoo or a classic Greek, a bare breasted Madagascarene or long-robed rabbi, man looks malvolently backward at his Eve and growls at her as the origin of his woes. But whether the product of a pimple or of a divinely justified rib, the paradox remains that she who is the truest daughter of Eve has never lack of admiring slaves.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The company is incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, and the stock is non-assessable, and carries with it no personal liability to the holder.

THE GOLD MINING COMPANY (location, Music Mountains, A. T.) is as sound a mining enterprise as was ever placed on the market, and its possibilities have never been exceeded. Every share should double in value within a year, and they may quadruple, as they are based on property that would ordinarily have been capitalized ten (10) times as great on account of its known richness and promise.

The shares are made small so that any one can invest. Subscriptions for five shares are as welcome as those for hundreds.

Every dollar of earnings will go to the stockholders in dividends, as there is nothing else that they can be used for.

A Wisewell mill, capacity 20 tons per day, with powerful machinery, has been purchased and will be on the ground ready for erection at the mine within the next thirty days.

The solid basis upon which the company is founded and the practical proofs of the richness of the mine have already secured the confidence of the public, and the stock has steadily advanced in selling value. Within the last few days bona fide sales have been made at PAR.

There is no better stock on the market for a permanent investment. For full information in regard to this Mine apply to the
